Once you've made decision to have these high quality giclee prints made Photography Plus will take a 16.7 megapixel digital capture of it while being lit with two studio flash units with soft boxes for an soft even light source. Next I make a few standard corrections and run a first proof for a color check. I then closely view the proof and compare it to the original art to see how close of a match it is. Next I will color correct and tweak the file to achieve a closer match to your original. Another proof is run for me to inspect. Once I am happy with the results it's your turn to look at it.
